Scientific Industries Announces Expanded Website Capabilities and E-Commerce Initiative

Scientific Industries Inc. (OTCBB-SCND), October 1, 2003 - Scientific Industries proudly announces the launch of its redesigned new website at www.scientificindustries.com and www.vortexgenie.com. The new interactive website was designed in response to customer needs for increased product information and procurement options. The website will serve as a primary conduit for the dissemination of new product information and an educational resource for existing products. In addition, full e-commerce will be available to end-users within the United States and Canada. The launch of this website represents another element of its ongoing strategy to increase its market presence within the scientific community.

About Scientific Industries

Scientific Industries manufactures and markets laboratory equipment, including the world-renowned Vortex-Genie® 2 Mixer. Scientific Industries' products are used by research laboratories, clinics, pharmaceutical manufacturers, medical device manufacturers, and other industries.
